Re: Luluman Regulations proposed by Cranberry Marketing Com.

Dear Secretary Glickman:

I was born and raised in the cranberry business since 1934. After a seven year tour of active duty with the US Air Force, my wife and I came home in 1959 and have operated Scott Cranberry Marsh since. Scott Cranberry Marsh has added 85 new acres over the last 40 years and we now farm 140 acres.

The Cranberry industry certainly went through

Some very tumultuous and difficult economic times during the 1960's and early 70's, however as a long time grower this is becoming by far the worst situation I have experienced.

The marketing order as originally conceived was intended to help the growing community help itself without relying on subsidization. Majority was the rule in tonnage and members. It was never the idea that everyone could be satisfied. Unfortunately the order has been tweaked by special interests over the years which will make the order very difficult to implement.

However due to the extreme economic crisis that the growing community is faced with, I believe it necessary to use the tools we have in place to the best of our ability. I believe we need to implement the order as soon as possible with whatever agreements can be made between the Committee and the Dept of Agriculture. My hope that this action would help preclude possible demands for a lot of other government help.

Thank you

Sincerely

Craig Scott
